Mr. Carty- Principal

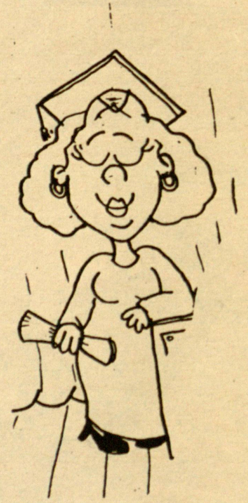
To the senior class and first graduating class of East Stroudsburg-North, thank you for all your cooperation and for all the memories.

You were faced with adversity when you were asked to finish your senior year in a new high school. You demonstrated that you can handle change and adversity by making the best of your surroundings.

I am very proud of what you have accomplished this school year.

Let this school year be a life long lesson. You will experience many changes and much adversity in your lifetime. Remember, you will be judged on how you overcome these changes and adversity.

Good luck and best wishes on a prosperous future.



Senior Wills and Memories

Theresa Herbert- I don't really have anyone or anything to leave. But I do have some advice to leave for all the underclassmen and women. First, don't always wait to the last minute for everything. It may seem okay at first but then you will almost always end up losing that one report or essay. Next, make all your prom preparations early. Don't wait till 2 or 3 weeks before because you won't be able to get anything. Also, make as many friends your senior year as possible. They are the most important part of your high school life. You also will never know when they are gone. Don't forget to get their addresses when you graduate because you never know what will happen to them when the summer is over. And the best advice that I could give to anyone is try to find one thing everyday that makes you smile.

Throughout my senior year, I have seen so much and been through a lot. You can never prepare yourself for the full effect of it all. Allow yourself to get caught up in all the activities and the sports you can. Your senior year is the best and the fastest year of high school. Enjoy it while it lasts!

Adrienne Sutton- Neesha, Caramel Sundea, Sing-Lou, Speesh, Dawson, Nessa, Where do I begin? I know we haven't always been the best of friends and it is highly possible, that we might have even argued a few times, but overall we've had fun. We're all growing up and becoming, big college students (well, some of us) so; there are just a few things I never want you to forget. In 10th grade when I was so in love with "the tiger" and you were so in love with "Mr. Jones." We were pretty pathetic back then, but thank goodness we've grown out of that stage. Every single time one of us got our phones taken away, which for me was like every other week. How can we forget about Rob, Steve, Darian, Jamari, and the rest of the NJ, NY click. Kareem would be so proud of us. Those were some of the best times we had even if they were short-lived. We can't forget about Jason and Eddie… My name is Eddie oh and I'm a chico oh and I go chica-chica - chica-chica-cha ah I wear a sombrero and I live in Mexico… that song never gets old. Then the time you left and went to Barbados…that's when I first saw Jason… After that I never wanted you to leave again. When we went to Ocean City, all the bus rides, go-karts, and our big fight over the fan…lol. Just turn the fan off when I tell you to and there won't be no problems . Oh, and I almost forgot Terrence. Thanks to him I lost a lot of weight, and went through a lot of pairs of shoes; walking to his house everyday. I know you guys have had your ups and your downs (when I say down I mean rock bottom) but he's always proved himself in the end…or at least he tried his best. Chris…need I say more? Our favorite chemistry class…those were the days…labs, test, oh yeah and that minor incident when we were labeled immature. The 4th of July last summer, I'll just leave it at that. Anything more could incriminate one of us. Our Internet chat days, when we ruled the rooms in Yahoo! That's when we realized our lives needed to…umm…expand (basically, we needed to get a life) Now, you have Kuaheim and for me it's a blessing in disgiuse. I can't thank him enough. I didn't think we were going to make it out of the car alive on that LONG ride to McDonalds. I never thought those two would wind up being best friends at the prom. Well, just remember me when you're off in Penn State; running) Since I won't be with you in college to guide you in the right direction here's a few tips:

1- If anybody offers you anything, don't call people at 3:00 a.m. to tell them about it, it's really not that important.
2- Don't let people trick you into telling them things even when you're just trying to help.
3- If it cost more than $1.50 wait until it goes on sale…you can't afford to spend all that money.

Well, cotton-eye Joe, keep on singing and hopefully our paths will cross again, someday. Hey maybe my husband "L.W." can do half time at one of your man's NBA games. Tameka and crew; Where should I begin? Let's start in eighth grade since that's the first time we actually liked each other. We had lots of fun in math class with Ms. Pritchard, and reading with Ms. Polizzotto. I'll never forget the picture of New Edition eating fried chicken in their boxers! Then in our freshman year of high school, we didn't hang out that much cause Neesha stole you away from me, but I forgive her. When we did hang out we had fun and that's all that matters. In tenth grade we hung out a lot during basketball, I'll never forget how much fun we had in Mattie's talking about everybody, and eating food. Our two favorite things to do. Or, the time we went out to eat at the Chinese restaurant for your birthday, and Neesha kept throwing food at the people behind us. In eleventh grade we didn't really hang out that much, cause I never saw you. I did have lots of fun at your sweet sixteen though. Was that even in eleventh grade? I can't remember, but I had fun. Well, except for when I was getting knocked out by someone's hand, while they were "dancing". Now we're seniors, and this year we've had so much fun…from doing all those plays in Ms. Kropcho's class to driving down the wrong side of the street to get to China Buffet. We can never forget the play in Ms. Kropcho's class when I had to wear that neck brace…I don't think I've ever been so embarrassed in my life. The night of Homecoming was umm…eventful too. I didn't think we were going to be able to stop the tears, but once I broke out the sunshine song I knew it would all be okay. Oh yeah and how can I forget the night you and Neesha slept over my house. I won't say much about that night except Neesha defiantly left us something to remember for a LONG time. The party where we practiced our sprint (I do mean running) was also something I don't think any of us will ever forget. Lastly, everyday in Mr. Milsovic's class is an adventure that should be savored forever…or at least until college starts. Well our years together have been great and I'm really gonna miss you once I'm gone, but the good times must end. Besides if I stayed here forever, I'd never get to go to F.N.! Sorry Tamika, but that's just a little more important. I'm just playing; I'll miss you.

Nicole Mulvey- Big shout outz go to Marsha Sosa, Jesse Swenson, Allison White, Gina Manfre, Johnny Medina, and Rachel Szlasa. This was one of the high school hallway crew. No matter what happens we were always there for each other. All the good and bad we got through together, some things we will never forget about. To most of the teachers that worked us so hard, I guess it all paid off. To those of you that did help, you know who you are, thanx a lot! Even though we are not all getting out together at least we all still know what's going on around the school. Also we see who is still around and how much things changed since we have been gone. Well- I just have to say I'm glad we all made it this far.

Jaime Woitsky- Wow… It's hard to believe I'm finally here, at the end of thirteen years in school, writing my senior will. In a way, I don't want it to be over. Since a major purpose of this is to give advice to those below you, I'd like to say this- Don't take high school for granted, especially in a school as special as this one. Everyone here is so close-knit and there's a lot of opportunities here that I never had at the south school. I was a Cavalier for three years, yet I will still always be a Timberwolf. The last four years have been long and rough, but the hardest part, by far, was changing schools. Unfortunately, I have lost touch with many of my friends from the south school. However, my year here has made up for it. When I first came here, the idea of trying to fit in someplace where I had no friends was incredibly scary. The only thing that kept me going was football practice. That may sound ridiculous because I was only a manager, but nearly everyone on the team was really nice to me. They even gave me a place to sit at lunch. I'd like to thank, first and foremost, the ENS football team. Angel, Jimmy and Jason- You guys are a lot of fun to hang out with. Thank you for being there when I needed you. Jason- Special thanks to you for being my only friend in Ms. K's class. Steve- You're a really awesome person, even though I still consider you the gym class geek. You can always make me laugh, even when I'm on the worst mood. I'm really glad I had the chance to be in Milosovic's class with you after you disappeared for ten years. Good luck in Pittsburgh next year. Thank you Mr. Dailey and the rest of the coaches for having me as a manager and Chris for fixing me when I was broken. There are other important people that I also need to mention, but the person who has to come first doesn't even go to school here. She's my best friend since we were itty bitty. Thank you, Maura, for always sticking by my side, no matter what. We've been friends since we were about eight, and I don't think we have ever fought. I remember seeing my name in the senior issue last year in your senior will and I cried, so I couldn't forget to do you the same favor. I can't wait to work with you this summer… And we'll have to make sure to make some really cool trips. To Christina… I still can't believe we met because of Raun. I'm really glad we made it through high school holding onto our friendship. Through all the sunburns, tears and boxes covered in ten layers of wrapping paper, we have made it. We beat the odds (and the Albert saga). Thanks for being there. Sarah… We may not have been friends long and we've already been through so much, but its been fun. Who else could ever be as much like me as you? James will always be a problem between us, but he's honestly not worth losing such a unique friendship over, and I hope we stay in touch over the years. To the softball girls… You guys are awesome and I look up to many of you, even though most of you are younger than me. Though many of us came into the sport not getting along, we made do with the team we had and really learned the meaning of school spirit. I'm sad to see the season come to an end, but I'll be sure to come watch the games next year. There are so many other people that I'll miss and I'm sure the end of the year will bring so many tears, but the more people I thank personally, the more money I have to spend. However, I managed to save the best for last. Micheal… It has been a great honor to know you, to be friends with you, and to play your soon to be wife. The play was wrong, cause you are MY hero. I think I will miss you the most, because you’re leaving me at the close of this fun-filled school year, and there’s no telling if I will ever see you again. Thank you for the dance, as it was the highlight of the prom. And I suppose that’s all I have to say. Just know that everyone in this school has touched my life, whether you meant to or not; whether you’re my friend or not. The smiles in the hallway, the random hellos, the classmates that helped me catch up when I was absent… You all helped me through this year. Thank you for everything.

Jen Sansosti- Well, finally we’re graduating (most of us anyway). The past 4 yrs. have been outstanding & this yr., our Sr. yr. has definitely been the most memorable! I’d like to thank my Sr. class for nominating me for both prom and homecoming queen. And most importantly I’d like to congratulate a great friend of mine, Bianca Ruffin for becoming our first ever prom queen! I love you so much & even though we haven’t chilled recently know this: No one can ever replace you & I’ll love you forever!! We’ve been tight for what….6 yrs. now! Good luck at Howard Univ. you’ll do GREAT I know it. You’re an extremely successful, intelligent, strong-minded individual filled with love, creativity, humor and goals! You’re absolutely beautiful inside and out, a perfect 10. I’d also like to thank the faculty at ENS for allowing me to “leave my mark” all over the brand new school! Painting murals, drawing for the school newspaper, designing the Sr. gift & graduation ticket, and also painting the basketballs for the Sr. players has been an enjoyable honor that will live on forever. Receiving The Honors Award for Academics & the D.A.R. award for good citizenship and character presented to me by the faculty was the highest honor to achieve. Earning so much respect from teachers and staff is very flattering. Thanks again! And special thanks to Mrs. Bonacore (my fellow Brooklyn-Ite); you’re such a sweetheart thanks for all of your time & help! O,yea I wanted to say “What’s up” to Matt D. aka “SKEETZ” ya a cool kid, I’m glad I met you, keep in touch, and keep up with your art & computers, that’s ya spot! Major major $$ in your future!(LoL) Stay great! To Nicole D., A.J., & Joanne S. it’s been great having 2 blocks with you guys, best wishes in your future! The memories of this yr. will never fade. Prom 2001 was great, (Thanks JRS.! SPECIAL SHOUTOUT TO VIRGINIA “GINIA” GARCIA I LOVE YOU MA! We GOTTA chill this Summer!! I’ma Miss You Like Krazie!!) but I think I had even more fun the next day at Dorney Park with many different people I got to know a lot more such as; Randy, Mike E., “Stevie”, Frank, Chris C., Anne Marie, Sara W., Kristin, Kim J., Dennis, Marc B., Andrew “Drew” Jewel, Ray V. (too bad we lost touch, well, you know where I live, feel free to stop by before Aug. 19th), Wayne Fugate→(BEST OF LUCK WITH YOUR ACTING CAREER!! YOURE SURE TO GO FAR, REMEMBER ME WHEN YOU’RE FAMOUS. MUCH LOVE!), & Cory “HardCORE” Klieber- You’re such a GREAT guy! We really hit it off & you’re definitely someone I’m going to miss & I wish we knew each other earlier. You’re the COOLEST KID I ever met & I mean that..Never change! LOVE ME SOME CORY! Well, as most of you may know I will be attending The Fashion Institute of Technology (F.I.T.) in NYC starting August 19th to pursue a future career in Art! I’ll miss you all & I’ll be sure to visit when I’m famous & repaint the Sistine Chapel! (hehehe) BEST OF LUCK CLASS OF 2001!! We’ve set a legacy for future generations to follow. This yr. has been something I will NEVER forget! Despite all of the losses we’ve all suffered through this year and traumatic events we all helped each other stay strong and pull through it, and hopefully learn from life’s many experiences. Now THAT is what a CLASS is really all about, being there for each other & constant support! That’s something to be very proud of. See you all at our Class Reunion! Be safe, have fun, & God Bless! Feel free to email me at italchic83@hotmail.com

With Much Love~Jen Sansosti~

Neesha Goodman- To Adrienne, Sometimes I forget what your real name is because I never once call you by it. Lets see there are Ergen, chynadoll, and Ching chong. I’m going to start from my first memory of you to my last. There was key club and I always smiled at you and I couldn’t figure out why you wouldn’t smile at me back until I came to find out years later you never liked me. Then there was basketball, I was never in it but that never stopped me from eating out with you guys before a game. Don’t think I forgot the courtyard scene. Then you started going out with Dimon that was hard on you because we hated each other. I remember when Amanda and I ganged up against you to dump him. We used to talk about you guys, behind your back to get you upset; it worked. I learned the cotton-eyed Joe dance around this time. I remember Mrs. Campbell, oh by the way, I’m sorry about the gum in your hair. We went on that trip to Camden zoo . We went to New York together and you hooked me up with Rob. Wow so many experiences with rob. Like the guy cutting the Avirex, and my Kareemy showing Rob whose boss. Which brings me to one of my favorite guys of our little queens group, Shawny, make sure he knows he can have my stuff in the box, that way he’ll never forget me. I remember when we lost a crewmember, Maurice how sad you were and I lost my first love Kareem, how sad I was. Eleventh grade came soon after that. That’s when we went to every party we could. Then you hooked me up with Kuasharn, that’s an experience we will never forget. Then that day at fern wood, when you came face to face with Mr. Ed and how you ran like a roach when the light turned on. All those long walks in the snow with Terrence even the day when I had a 102 fever and slept on his couch the whole time anyway; my favorite couch. But without Terrence I probably wouldn’t have learned the life lessons I know now. 11th grade we started to watch Charmed, you’re still convinced your one of their long lost sisters, Phebepiperprue power . This is also around the time when mysterious monkey sounds left your house when I was on the phone- Hey, ooh ooh eeh eeh aah aah! This was also around Mika’s sweet sixteen, we were having a great time until Adrian’s wild dancing knocked you out. Now I’ll start twelfth grade memories. I would mention the fourth of July but people are liable to get hurt so I’ll end it there. Our first day seeing the new school, it only took about an hour to get their from your house, thanks to my new license and cautious driving. We went with Terrance and corthiean to the tarot card reading and the lady changed my life, as we know it. Then I started to go out with Kuaheim. Kuaheim gave us many new experiences, like the innocent trip to burger king, and the innocent trip to McDonalds. Wow all of our innocent trips were to fast food restaurants. Well I’m going to end this, even though there are plenty more memories like bugga bugga and Mr. Slim, because I’m running out of space. So I leave you on this note; Hi my name is Adrienne, and I have an uncontrollable smile!

Tamika- From the four years we’ve known each other I have changed from this quiet little innocent girl, to a loud dramatic freak; courtesy of you; so I bid you thanx. It all started out the first day of chorus, when you introduced yourself to me. It was the start of a bond. Everyday we were either causing a commotion in chorus or laughing at something stupid going on in study hall. When Friday came along we had our sleep over arrangements made, our gear on, and our ride secured to the mall, cause we were “ cousins” on a mission. In 10th grade we not only had chorus together but English as well. Who could forget Mrs. Frank’s class? Our group project with Gio; which ended up becoming a hanger war with us against him and Henry. Then there was SAT’s, we stayed out all night and then barely woke up to take them the next morning. Don’t forget track that was trip. Soon came eleventh grade with our dreaded senior projects and our group fights with Kristen Wilkins and Lerlyn. That’s when our tight group withered away, but you and I kept our heads up and made it to twelfth grade. Which began all of the fun, because Nessa got her license. You probably never saw your life flash so many times before your eyes until you rode in the van. When we went to the football game and the lights didn't work, and then when we got to the football game we realized there was no game. So we detoured toward the mall and headed to the clearance racks, which left us enough money to send us to ponderosa, that was some night. I remember when you Adrienne and I decided we wanted Chinese food and I made a turn for the worse, literally. Then there was Jesse's party; I don't think I ran that much in track. That's when you told me about Gio, we could leave it at that. Who could forget homecoming when you sat in the hairdresser crying and Adrienne and I did our best to rush you to the stadium and you sprinted to the limo, only later to collect your crown as homecoming queen. The prom or after the prom I should say, that interesting experience at Perkins with Kuaheim, did I thank you for hooking us up? Well now it's May, actually it will be June when you read it and you're off to Kutztown and I to Penn state. I hope you hold on to our memories, actually there is much more but I just don't have the space to write it. See you when you come to visit- luv ya to pieces Tameka.

Christina Marie Ratigan : Gary- Good luck next year and in the future. You are going to good in school and achieve so much more. I love you!

Melissa- whom are you going to walk in the hallway with in the morning? You will find someone else but always remember none of your other friends can make you laugh as hard as can in the morning. Good Luck in the next few years.

Steffanie- well we became friends a year ago. We had out ups and down more than most friends I think. It's okay though. We always knew when to pop back into one another's life and be they're when we needed someone. I will never forget the phone calls at 2 o'clock in the morning. Just remember if you need someone to call at 2 in the morning I am here for you. Good luck next year.

Ashley- you are an awesome friend. You were always his or she when I needed someone to talk too. This was a big year for you; all I will say is the parties. Nothing else will be mentioned. Good luck over the next few years.

Billy- Thank you for everything you have ever done for me. Especially for last year with driving me to school and work and always being they're to listen to me complain about my problems. You are a good friend, Good luck with everything in the future.

Samantha- you were one of my very first friends when I started here. We have way to many memories between us to stop being friends. Thank you for everything.

Tamikia- we have drifted apart but you are still one of my closest friends. You have always watched out for me with those pizza people and everything else. We have some good memories. Good luck with everything next year and in the future.

Adrienne- well you and I have always had gym/health together but not this year; it was weird not having you in my class. You and both need to learn how to drive a little better, but that is okay. Just don't forget about your lovely boyfriends (Tim and Danny). Good luck with everything in the future.

Alexis- you are a good friend. After we graduate we will still be friends. Thank you for everything. Good luck with everything. Also, CONGRATULATIONS to you and Aaron. You two were meant to be together.

Laura- I really don't know what to say to you at this point. We have been through so much for being friends for such a short period of time. You, Jake and Mommy became a big part of my life. We were a family and now we are nothing. But you and me had gone through some tough times together. I know I will never forget any of them. I will always remember all the times we cried together and told each other things we wouldn't tell anyone else. We had a lot of trust towards one another. I don't know what else to say to you except thank you for all of the memories and always being their when I needed you the most. You were my best friend and my only friend for a while. Thank you for everything. I love you and miss you. Good luck next year and in the future.

Jaime Leigh- Okay! All of these years you have taken up so much room in my year books to make sure I won't forget our memories. Now we are graduating this year together just like we have always planned. But we had a lot of tough spots in our friendship. Let's see there was Tim. He is someone who will always hold a memory in our friendship as well as Albert and Jacob. Now let's not forget about Josh. All of the mornings we went to breakfast together. All of the times I had to embarrass you when we went shopping. The parties, and the midnight phone calls because one of us couldn't sleep. When we got our permits and driver's license. As well as our car accidents. The no scummies and the sunburn, and everything else to go along with what we went through that summer and year. The sunburn and everything else to go along with what we went through that summer and year. So many memories. I just know for a fact that you will be one of my very best friends for the rest of my life. I love you!

I would also like to thank anyone I forgot and everyone who helped me open my eyes to what else is out in the real world. And everyone who doubted me graduating this year (which was a lot of people), I would like to say well I am graduating, thank you for doubting me. And good luck to my fellow classmates who I have spent the past four years with. I hope you all achieve your goals now and in the future. Congratulations!

Sasha Martinez- It's hard to say goodbye after all the great moments that some people had together. Terry Ann Magnus- All my life, I have always dreamed of this moment and now that I'm finally graduating from high school, I don't want to leave. First, I would like to thank God for bringing me this far because without him, I will not be here. Second, I would like to thank my family for always believing in me. Third, my friends, Cherisse, my best friend, thanks for being there for me, Olivia and Katie, you guys are the greatest, and everybody that I have been in contact with all my school years. Finally, I will like to thank a very special person who has always been there for me. My best friend, my mentor, and who is a father to me, Mr. Marcial. I remember when I was sophomore and just stepped foot into his Social Studies class. He was very nice and pleasant. Back then; I was going through some tough time within myself. He took me in as one of his own. He saved my life. I know that if it weren't for him, I would not be here today. Thanks Mr. Marcial. I remember when it was his birthday and right after lunch, we through him a surprise birthday party in the classroom. He was so happy. Everybody just loves him, that's how much of a great teacher he is. Again, thank you Mr. Marcial, I know that for the rest of my life, I will never forget you for as long as I live.

I still remember what it was like when I first stepped into that high school building. I remember where my classes were and all the teachers I had. I remember my first choir concert. We were singing Christmas songs. I remember walking done the business wing at the south school and smelling great food the students were cooking at Foods class. I took that class just for that smell too in my sophomore year. The field trips were the best. In the spring semester of my junior year, I had taken conversational Spanish. We went on trip to New York and I learned how to dance to Spanish music. It was great. I also remember going to see the play, when I was a freshman, To Kill a Mocking Bird, at a theatre in Philadelphia. Then, we read the book, Of Mice and Men, and when I saw the movie, I almost cried. Last year with Coach, Mr. Christian, we read Macbeth and it was awesome. I had always got straight A's in math: Geometry, Algebra I and II, and Trig. Science was okay since I do want to become doctor.

To sum it all up, my years in high school was fun and I wish I could do it again. Even though, we split up this year, I would not change a thing except if I could just start all over again. In addition, I would like to dedicate this poem to all my classmates and it's called To be the best because that is what we are and forever will be:

To be the best, you have to take risks
To be all that you can be
There's love to share nothing to fear
And life you have to see
To be the best, you have to smartYou have to be fast but slow at times
You have to know how to add and subtract
Multiply and divide
To be the best, you have to go beyond the distance Go far to succeed your goals
You have to be strong
All day long
For God all He knows
To love, care, and be honest
Most of all, to be free
Be smart, be strong
Even when you're short or long
Be the best that you can be.

I hope all of my fellow classmates like this poem for I wish you all the best of luck in all of your lives. God bless.

A Poem for Graduation

by Anonymous

As you stand
among your graduating class,
In this brief, shining moment,
reflect upon the past;

The obstacles overcome;
The loved one's lost,
The mistakes made,
The smiles shared with
Your family and friends that care...

For the future lies in front of you
as open as a great sea
where all obstacles are obliterated, memories keep lost one's close,
And mistakes are easily overcome.

For although you can not see to the bottom of this great sea
You have the strength, knowledge, and self respect needed to be the best you can be from this your graduation day.
